Door Leaf

W: 83.7 cm; H: 163 cm

Hall 4

Inv. no. 532

Door leaf, typically Mamluk in style, featuring a sophisticated composition of twelve- and nine-pointed stars. The ornamentation remains relatively restrained, yet the creativity of the craftsman is revealed in the geometry itself: the complex task of combining stars of such differing point counts required careful calculation and the insertion of smaller polygonal shapes to resolve the intervening spaces, producing a harmonious and precise overall pattern.
